Originally occupied in 1870 by settlers, the location transitioned from a log store, to the Saratoga Springs Hotel to the State Bath House. Operations changed again in 1949 when the Saratoga Inn was built. Over the next several decades, the Inn was managed by several owners until it was ultimately purchased by world-renowned surgeon, Michael Janssen, who frequently visited the area as a favorite getaway.

Today it is now known as Wyoming's premier travel destination, Saratoga Resort and Spa.

Retreat to warmth and comfort of western-appointed guest rooms and suites, complete with feather beds, Pendleton blankets, authentic artwork and locally crafted lodge pole decor. Saratoga Resort and Spa offers five types of accommodations:

Standard Queen Room with one queen bed

Deluxe Queen Room with one queen bed

Deluxe Double Room with two double beds

Queen Suite with one queen bed, larger room with seating area and complimentary robes

King Suite with one king bed, larger room with seating area and complimentary robes

Enjoy complimentary warm, fresh-baked cookies upon check-in.

Mineral Hot Springs Pools

For centuries the healing waters of Saratoga's natural mineral hot springs have renewed even the most weary of travelers. Come soak away your cares in one of our intimate teepee-covered hot pools or our 70-foot-long mineral hot springs pool. The incredible high mineral content and low sulphur odor ranks our springs with the world famous German springs.

Teepee hot pool temperature is approximately 100 degrees.

Healing Waters Spa

Indulge in pampering spa treatments designed by professional spa therapists to sooth and relax the mind, body and spirit. Soak in the naturally therapeutic mineral waters of the hot pools as a prelude to massage therapy, body and energy treatments, and our signature Spirit Journey treatment.

Housed in the original historic spa building, the Healing Waters Spa features skin care products by Phytomer–the latest in marine biotechnology and Me Bath bath ice cream for the newly opened Healing Waters Foot Spa.

The Spirit Journey is our 2-hour signature treatment that is based on Native American ritual traditions to calm the mind and allow for true and total relaxation of body, mind and spirit.
